

The Patient is the Network

Coordinated Care Health Network was developed and launched by Yeaman and Associates to enable a purpose driven network combining image sharing and clinical data sharing coupled with proven network services.

CCHN is a provider led National Health Network, evolved from the origins of traditional Health Information Exchanges (HIE) and operates under the principle of not owning member's data, but making members data work for them.

Key Principles of CCHN

- Empowering Providers; right information, right place, right time
- Purpose Driven; a solution oriented focus of exchanging images and data
- Scalability; a national network improves sustainability while decreasing the costs of sharing patient health information
- Quality; unequaled patient matching (MPI) solution, service and performance
